WIRTH MARKED FOR DEATH

Assassination of Chancellor Part of Program

(CARL D. GROAT)

BERLIN — (United Press) — Police in Berlin are under orders to go on the alert to crush a new monarchist revolt which is being plotted, according to documents seized by the government agents in raids. Part of the plot was to be assassination of Chancellor Joseph Wirth. The police came into possession of letters showing there were two plots against Wirth. The chancellor mentioned these designs on his life in a speech to the reichstag, but said he would "carry on" as usual. His personal guard has been strengthened. One of the men planning Wirth's murder is said to have confessed at Leipzig. He gave the name of Schultz. Another man was arrested in the Rhineland. The chancellor is receiving large numbers of threatening letters, especially from Leipzig.

OHIO COAL PRICES PROTESTED

Dealers Declare Margin Fixed by Board Too Low

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Retail coal dealers thruout Ohio today made formal protest against the maximum profit margins, allowed them by Fuel Administrator Neal under the emergency fuel act. B. F. Nigh, Columbus, secretary of the Michigan-Ohio-Indiana Coal Association, as representative of practically every retail dealer in the state filed the protest. Objection is entered to the fixed margins on the ground that they are too low to permit the retailers to make a reasonable profit. Reasonableness and modification of the margins is asked, the protest states. Because "said margins are unreasonable and unfair in that they are unreasonably low and not sufficient to cover cost of coal to the dealer plus his operating expenses with a just and reasonable sum for his profit in the transaction." Margins protested range from 65 cents to $2.75 a ton. They were announced October 14, and become effective Friday. "They vary in different counties and cities depending upon distribution costs and conditions."

SWORD DRAWN BY LLOYD GEORGE

Former Premier Ready for War on His Enemies

WELSH WIZARD CHEERED

Applauded as He Carries Campaign Into Leeds

LEEDS, England — (United Press) — Lloyd George, traveling on a tide of tumultuous cheers, carried his campaign into Leeds today.

The former prime minister who is to form a new party and staging a "come back" which will place him in power again, was greeted with thunderous applause wherever he appeared in public. Great throngs gathered about the place where he is to make his speech this afternoon. The Welsh wizard is known to be tremendously encouraged by the rousing reception he has been accorded. He believes he is gaining votes every hour for his battle with the Tories, upon whom he has declared war. "SHALL I FEEL SWORD?" "My sword is in my hand and they shall feel its weight," he declared, in one of his speeches from his railway carriage on the trip to Leeds. With the coalition broken up and Bonar Law endeavoring to form a conservative ministry, Lloyd George is concentrating all his efforts on forming a strong, dangerous Georgian party which he expected to see enter the house of parliament after the next election.

MOTHER ACCUSED OF KILLING TWINS FREED

HAMMOND, Ind. — The drama of the "phantom twins" was over today.

Mrs. Hazel McNally, mother, who was freed in one of the most dramatic acquittals in the history of the state was at the home of her mother, in Chicago, recuperating from the strain of the trial. The trial came to an abrupt end when Judge Henry Cleveland upheld the motion of the defense that the state had not proved that the alleged twins had died a violent death.

Mrs. Wetzel was rescued early today by Patrolman Ulich as the flames caught on her night clothes. Ulich rushed into the place as smoke poured from the windows. Mrs. Wetzel told police she believed the men were after $1,400 her husband drew from the bank. They became enraged when they failed to find the money and she refused to tell his hiding place.

CLIMAX IS APPROACHING

Murderers Declared Identified by Two Eye Witnesses

(BY GERALD P. OVERTON)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — (United Press) — Two eye witnesses to the Hall-Mills murder have named the slayers of the rector and choir singer. It was persistently reported here today, as every indication gave evidence a startling climax is rapidly approaching in the case. Persistent reports that a prominent woman of New Brunswick had made affidavit to Prosecutor Beekman that she saw the slayers and recognized them, had resulted in no denial from Beekman's office early today.

It was reported, however, from authoritative sources that two arrests may be made before night. Simultaneously it was reported from apparently reliable sources that Beekman will again place the case before the Somerset grand jury with a view of obtaining indictment of a man and a woman by the first part of next week.

Beekman denied that an indictment has already been returned, following flying rumors the grand jury had acted secretly following his appearance before it yesterday.

SLAIN ON FARM The reported woman eye witness in her purported affidavit was asserted to have said the murders were committed on the Phillips farm where the bodies were found.

She is declared to have been attracted by shots at the place and behind a clump of bushes saw the murderers arranging the bodies, lovingly folding the hands of Rev. Hall, while the body of Mrs. Mills, the woman upon whom terrible vengeance was heaped, was roughly cast down.

"MONTE CRISTO" MADE NEW YORK YIELD!

Read the Comments From New York's Leading Papers by Theatrical Critics

"The World is Monte Cristo's—screen version of the gorgeous melodrama preserves most of the thrills—it is glorious picture stuff, the greatest of adventure romances."—Evening Mail, New York.

"If you wish to renew your youth, see 'Monte Cristo'—all the adventure and romance of Dumas' novel woven into the Fox production. John Gilbert proves himself an actor of sterling ability."—New York Journal.

"The action of the story is swift, sure and smooth—those who stood with Edmond Dantes at the first showing of 'Monte Cristo' felt its thrill as keenly perhaps, as any audience ever did at the famous play."—New York Times.

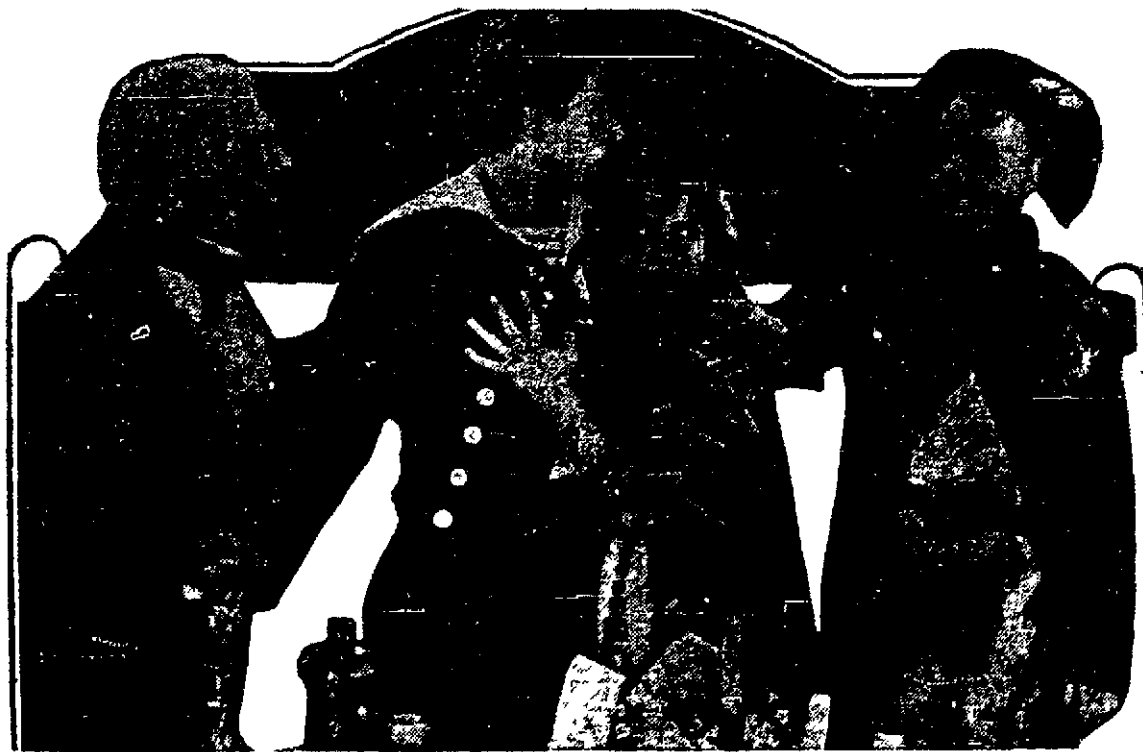

"It is a meaty picture. It is a fruity picture. I can't quite get it out of my head that Dumas wrote it for the Fox films. It is so Foxily-filmish that I can scarcely believe that it wasn't written to order, but it wasn't. It was the famous Dumas story done into screenery very elaborately.

"The work of John Gilbert in the lead was exceedingly fine—the best piece of acting a Fox film has ever shown, and some of the minor parts were well done, especially by William V. Mong, Ralph Cloninger, Albert Prisco and Virginia B. Faire."—Alan Dale, in New York American.

"Monte Cristo," thrilling as photoplay—Dumas' romance of Love, Adventure and Revenge, screened with fine effect.—A wealth of pictorial and dramatic detail.—ONE OF THE REAL ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE SCREEN.—New York Herald.

"A great production, superbly acted by a great cast and capably directed, sums up the Fox production of 'Monte Cristo,' which has John Gilbert as the principal player in the dual role of the feature. The sets are unusually elaborate and massive."—Variety.

"See 'Monte Cristo' by all means—John Gilbert, in the title role, is most commanding and statuesque. The supporting cast is competent and in some cases superior. Wm. Mong does an excellent bit and Spottiswood Aiken is not to be overlooked."—New York Globe.

There was but one thrill lacking in the film version of "Monte Cristo," the famous Alexandre Dumas novel which William Fox offered to followers of the silent drama at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre this week. And that was the voice of the beloved James O'Neill crying "The World Is Mine."

But, while the famous story as a screen spectacle lacks this thrill, it supplies many others which even the masterful portrayal of Edmond Dantes by the great O'Neill could not give to the speaking vehicle. In short, "Monte Cristo" is one of the greatest and most thrilling screen spectacles that it has ever been our good fortune to see.—Zit.

MICHIGAN USES 8 VETERANS IN GAME, OHIO STATE 4

70,000 AT BIG GAME

COLUMBUS—Ohio today pits its football strength against a northern foe.

"Hurry up," Yost's Wolverines, smugly under defeat by Ohio last year when they dedicated Ferry field at Ann Arbor, have the edge in today's clash.

Michigan is determined to turn the dedication game of Ohio's million-dollar stadium into defeat for the Buckeyes.

Coach J. W. Wille, of Ohio is keeping his team in seclusion at a neighboring country club, until just before the game. The Yost men are bunking at a local club.

Both teams are thoroughly primed for the game. Not an injury mars the strength of either.

70,000 PRESENT

The 70,000 fans who will pack Ohio stadium undoubtedly will see one of the greatest football games in midwest gridiron history.

Never before this side of Yale bowl, have two football teams played before so large a crowd as will attend today's game. Never before in midwest gridiron history, have two teams bled more at stake.

The backfields of both teams are experienced. Ohio State will rely on green ends, while the flankers of Michigan are the best in the west. Michigan will use one green tackle. Ohio will use two. Each team has a new guard and both will depend on first year centers. Michigan has eight veterans, Ohio four.

The game, preceded by stadium dedication exercises, will begin promptly at 2 p. m.

The university district and the business streets of Ohio's capital are a carnival of color. Fraternity houses, business houses and university buildings are masses of bunting.

17,000 WOLVERINES COME

Seventeen thousand Michigan Wolverines here in holiday spirit. They are betting even money Michigan will win and most of it is being covered.

Special trains from Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo and Ann Arbor arrived early and jammed their passengers into the stream of a thousand.

Thousands came by automobile. A taking party of Michigan students marched down High-st at daybreak and joined the line in front of the ticket office.

Three thousand standing room tickets went to go on sale at 10:30. The weather early today was clear and crisp with a gentle wind blowing up from the south.

Students were hoping air currents in the stadium will help them defeat what they expect to be an aerial attack.

Old Ohio field, scene of 152 buckeye grid battles, is being used for parking space. It filled early with automobiles.

Hundreds of extra police will supervise automobile parking within radius of a mile around the stadium.

THE SEASON

Chances of the city rang the cheer loudest most of the night and the booming of big guns at last night's fog user, official pep get-together at Ohio were heard through the night.

Candidates for political office, robbed of their prominence for the day will sit on a raised platform on the 500-yard line this afternoon.

All Columbus and large part of Michigan have been drinking football with their demeritasse for the last week. Today the strain of anticipation comes to an end.

Both teams are ready. So is the stadium ready for its baptism of football.

Coach Moran Strong For "Red" Roberts

"RED" ROBERTS

"RED" ROBERTS, who played such a prominent part in the success that Centre enjoyed last season in football, is back on the job playing as brilliantly as ever.

Coach Charles Moran is banking strongly on Roberts to uphold the prestige of Centre in the Harvard game today. Last year Roberts was an all-America choice for end and hopes to win a berth on that famous mythical eleven again this year.

SEVEN MINOR GAMES TODAY

COLUMBUS — With Ohio State meeting Michigan at the stadium here, only seven football games between smaller Ohio colleges were being played today. Five games were played yesterday by teams wishing to watch the Western Conference machines in action here, and of these contests furnished results more or less surprising.

Wittenberg's ability to defeat Denison 27 to 20 and the accomplishment of Otterbein in crossing Wooster's goal line twice while Wooster was piling up 46 points were the high lights of the day's play. Denison had counted strongly on a victory over Wittenberg and Otterbein's feat was of note because it was the first time in six years the Wooster goal line had been crossed on the home field.

The remaining games of yesterday resulted in the defeat of Kenyon by Mount Union, 6 to 0, Wilmington's snowing under of Kentucky Wesleyan 31 to 3 and Heidelberg's defeat of the promising Ashland College team 13 to 6.

Games scheduled for today:

Ohio Wesleyan at Cincinnati.
Hiram at Oberlin.
Case at Akron.
Ohio University at Reserve.
Ohio Northern at Miami.
Broadus at Muskingum.
Kent Normal at Baldwin-Wallace.

Poor Coaching Often Serious Handicap to Grid Teams

(BY AUDREY DEVINE)

ALL-AMERICA 1921, Captain Iowa 1921 "B" Ten Champions

KEEPING fit, however, is not the only element that determines the star's prospects in college. The coaching he has received in high school is also important.

DEVINE

Man, high school coaches have never played college football. When a high school coach, who has not had the benefit of the expert coaching and training that goes with college football, starts out to teach football to high school players he is apt to generalize and in so doing overlook the technique in the fundamentals of football, namely, correct passing, tackling, blocking and shifting and carrying the ball.

POOR COACHING HURTS

A high school star who has not learned to execute these fundamentals in the right way is handicapped from the start. In football, as in everything else, it is much easier to teach a raw and inexperienced recruit how to do things in the right way that it is to reform a good man who has learned to do those very same things in the wrong way.

Therefore, if you would know the prospects that a high school star has of making good in college, consider first his manner of living and the quality of the coaching he has received in high school.

Upon entering collegiate football competition, the man from high school must buck up against much more formidable material than he has met with in high school. He must expect to be pitted against men of more weight and greater speed who extend themselves in a way he has never dreamed of back on the hometown field. He will find that the college coaches give a good deal more attention to details, to technique and execution.

PLAYERS MUST SPECIALIZE

The "prep" star will find that if he hopes to make the varsity he will have to specialize for some particular position on the team. If the coaches look upon him as potential center, he must learn the nature and requirement of the center position by heart. If he is to be an end, he must learn football technique and strategy from the standpoint of an end.

Then, too, the high school star should realize from the start of his college football career that he is more or less under martial law, and that he need expect no coddling from the coaches. He must steel himself to hearing the coaches tell him in plain, unvarnished English in just what matters he is lacking.

The competition and the discipline may be a little irksome, but if a man is going to make good in college football he must pay the price for his success.

EYES ON CENTRE

NEW YORK — Eyes of eastern football followers will be riveted today on the stadium at Cambridge, Mass., where the Praying Colonels of Centre College, Danville, Ky., and the Harvard Crimson meet in their third "rubber" contest. The Crimson won in 1920 and the Colonels in 1921.

Despite its international aspect the game is viewed strictly as a means for comparing east and west and north and south. It isn't Centre's geographical location, so much as the peculiar situation it occupies in the football world that makes the contest one of the biggest of the season.

Aside from the Harvard-Centre match and the Navy-Georgetown tussle at Annapolis, today's football calendar represents a convalescent stage of the season. At Princeton the Tiger is not expecting much trouble from a Miami and at New Haven the blue is ready for just an ordinary scrap with Williams.

However, the Cornell-Colgate clash at Ithaca will be no small affair, nor will the Syracuse-Pittsburgh set at Syracuse. Army will take on New Hampshire, a team that bucked the rule to a standstill last year, but which doesn't appear in first class bucking form this season.

Other contests include the Lehigh-Brown game at Bethlehem, Pa.; the Pennsylvania-Swarthmore contest at Philadelphia, the West Virginia-Washington and Lee struggle at Charleston, the Holy Cross-Boston University melee at Worcester, Mass., and the Columbia-New York University tussle in New York.

ALL SET FOR BIG BATTLE

Everything is ready for the big game of the season tomorrow at Murphy-st park when Ottawa and the Independents hook up in the third and deciding fray of a series.

The contest has been considered with enough gravity by Ottawa that it has secured a battery of big-league caliber to fling against the local club.

With the championship of Allen and Putnam-cos at stake, Manager Kersting of Ottawa, will pin his faith in Ed Schultz, former twirler for the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds, and will use Henline, a Philadelphia National catcher.

Berry and Seals will be in the points for Lima. Berry should make a big effort to wipe out the defeat he suffered last Sunday at the hands of Wapakoneta.

IOWA RULES BIG FAVORITE

URBANA, Ill.—Iowa, triumphant over Yale a week ago, was ready for its first Western Conference test today in the annual game with the University of Illinois. Iowa ruled a top heavy favorite, not only because of its victory over Yale, but because the Illinois team lost its first game to Butler College and still remains more or less of an unknown quantity.

Coach Howard Jones brought 28 of his Iowa stalwarts along. To meet their attack, particularly the plunging Gordon Locke, fullback, Coach Bob Zuppke has built virtually a new lineup.

The probable lineup:

IOWA

FORM CHESS BODY

CLEVELAND — Formation of a national chess association will be attempted at a meeting to be held here in November, to which chess masters and enthusiasts of the entire country have been invited.

The leaders in the movement to form a national organization and standardize the game are Norman T. Whitaker, Washington lawyer and runner up in the western chess tournament; Irving Spero, former Cleveland and Ohio champion, and Charles E. Shives, also of Cleveland.

$35,000 LATONIA STAKE IS ON

LATONIA, Ky. — With perfect weather and a fast track in prospect, chief interest among followers of thoroughbred racing centered in the $35,000 Latonia championship stakes to be run this afternoon. The distance is a mile and three quarters.

Besides being a contest for supremacy of the three year old division between the east and the west, the race is to determine the respective merits of Harry Payne Whitney's Bunting and Sims and Oliver's Lucky Hour, thus settling a question that has agitated eastern turf critics for many months.

Montfort Jones has a formidable entry in Rockmister and Surf Rider, one the conqueror of Morvich and the other of Whiskaway.

BEARCATS IN FIRST

CINCINNATI — The Ohio Conference football season in Cincinnati opens this afternoon with Ohio Wesleyan opposing University of Cincinnati. Both teams were reported to be in good condition, the each may be minus one of the regular tackles when the game starts, as Aubrey Ray, Cincinnati lineman is down with tonsillitis, and Captain Smith of Ohio Wesleyan, tackle was said to be still suffering from injuries received in the Ohio Northern game.

NEW YORK CLUBS TRAIN IN WEST

NEW YORK — Talk of New York's major league baseball teams going to California to train next spring has begun.

While official word was unavailable, it was said unofficially that the world champion Giants were tired of San Antonio, Texas, where they have limbered up for a number of years and were anxious to go to California.

To make the exhibitions a guaranteed success, however, it is almost necessary that two major league clubs travel together. The only other club training on the Pacific coast is the Chicago Cubs, a National League club, and the Giants need an American League champion. But this may be arranged, possibly with the Boston Red Sox.

CHICAGOANS MEET PURDUE TODAY

CHICAGO — Virtually the same lineup used in defeating Georgia and Northwestern in Chicago's first two football games of the season will be started against Purdue today. The Purdue team arrived yesterday and went thru a lively drill on Stagg Field last night. A big crowd of rooters with a band accompanied Purdue to Chicago.

Score On Wooster

WOOSTER — Altho losing 46 to 14, the Otterbein football team yesterday won the distinction of crossing the Wooster goal. The first time this has been accomplished on the home field since 1916. The Otterbein scores came when, after Wooster had rolled up 27 points in the first half, Coach Boles sent in a bunch of substitutes.

THOMPSON SHIFTS

CARMI A. THOMPSON, Republican candidate for Governor of Ohio, has joined the chorus started by Medill McCormick, who endeavored to inject into the 1922 campaign the league of nations, as the dominant issue.

After finding that it was an error to attempt to make a campaign for the Republican ticket on the record of the Governor Davis administration, it was decided to rely on the record of the national administration and the "Stand by the President" cry to make assured that Ohio would go Republican. That also was found to be a dud; that the people did not respond any more quickly than they did to the previous pronouncement. Then it was that all else was side-tracked and the league of nations bogie man trotted out.

Governor Davis, affronted in a serious manner, announced after his return to his home in Columbus from the world series baseball games in New York, while supposed to be recuperating his health in a coast resort, that he would take the stump and defend his own administration, altho the party leaders would not permit him to be a candidate for a second term.

It is apparent that much as he would like to do so, Carmi Thompson cannot escape the pronouncement he made in behalf of the Davis administration, when he said:

"Governor Harry L. Davis has made his own case, my case and yours. I welcome it if the Davis administration is made the issue. The splendid administration of Governor Harry L. Davis and the members of his official family who contributed to the success of his administration will be an important aid to victory. The continuation of this Republican administration in Ohio will insure a continuation of the policies already put into effect by the present administration."

Carmi Thompson has stated the issue. It is the Davis administration, high taxes and a few other things, to say nothing of a do-nothing congress, an excessive tariff, ship subsidy prospect, a national deficiency and the President's blunder relative to the soldier bonus.

"GOOD READIN"

IN 1910 the world will celebrate the 500th anniversary of the invention of movable type. Before this invention, printing was done by carving an entire page on a solid block of wood or metal.

In the 60 years after the first movable type was brought out by Coster or Gutenberg, 10,000 books were printed.

Men rapidly developed the appetite for reading.

Research men in England, with more time than they know what to do with, have been checking up. They estimate that about 16,500,000 separate books have been printed, in all countries combined, since the invention of movable type.

Nearly 300,000 new books are turned loose on the world each year. And the flood steadily grows larger.

In addition, the tremendous output of newspapers, magazines, trade papers, folders, booklets, etc.

Small wonder, that most of us are perplexed when it comes to deciding what to read.

Even a rapid reader, reading all day and far into the night, would be unable to peruse more than 1 in 1000 of the new books issued yearly thruout the world.

Life is short. We are caged in by the limits of time.

As with books, so with knowledge. The most brilliant brain finds life too short to acquire more than a tiny fraction of the vast fund of knowledge accumulated and passed on thru the centuries by millions of inquiring minds.

Knowledge is a circus with a million rings, all going at once, no man able to grasp the whole show. The choice is to watch one ring intently (specialize) or wander up and down the tent, picking up a smattering about all rings in general and none in particular.

Greatest of all books is the never-ending serial story, the Book of Life. You see it mirrored in the newspaper.

BEE

A half-interest in Achievement Girl, a queen bee, is sold for $150 to J. M. Catter & Son, Montgomery, Ala. She is delivered by registered mail.

She is worth more than any other bee in the world because she is the best bee-mother in the world. That is true of humans. Most valuable and important of them are the best mothers.

The careers of great men are second-hand achievements of their mothers.

CONTAGIOUS

A Missouri telephone girl is instructed to say, "Thank you" instead of repeating the number called by the phone user.

Some efficiency expert declared that this would save a fraction of a second on each call, the whole tolling a big time saving.

More important will be the effect on phone users. Hearing "Thank you" will make them polite. Contagious more contagious than smallpox. Try it.

MOVIES

A brilliant future is predicted for the movies, provided they stop imitating the theater. Prediction is made by Dr. George Pierce Baker, Harvard's professor of dramatic literature.

The movies will grow better with time. As in other things, long-range evolution cannot be hastened. This much can be said, tho, on behalf of the movies: In 20 years they have made more progress than the legitimate stage made in 20 centuries.

The movie is a baby, precocious for its age, the often stupid.

YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Prepared for The Lima News by Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson.

History's greatest battles have been fought not on the battle-fields of blood but in the human heart, where the invisible forces of Satan have besieged the citadel of the soul to drag down and destroy. The decisive battles of the world have been determined by their effect upon the fortunes of successive generations. Hallam has pointed out that there are a "few battles of which a contrary event would have essentially varied the drama of the world" in all its subsequent scenes. Probably the greatest conflict of the ages was fought out in the wilderness, where the Spirit guided our Lord after His baptism to be tempted. During a period of forty days the Master met Satan "in a struggle so profound, a testing so difficult, that day after day and night after night He was involved in a titanic spiritual battle "that tested Christ's power and loyalty."

The wilderness conflict was inevitable. The moment there was given to Jesus the evidence which clearly established His relation to Jehovah and confirmed Him in His decision to do the Will of God, Satan determined to turn Him aside from His efforts to reveal the Father's love to men and to seek to save the lost. While the Master may have planned to return to the Carpenter shop when He left Nazareth to be baptized by John, the revelation to transform these stones, which were probably the "siliceous" ones used by the natives into bread to supply His physical needs. While the suggestion of Satan appealed to Christ's physical needs and led in the germ of selfishness, the real temptation contained in it's denial was that He should prove that He was the Son of God by material means. He sympathized with man's need of bread. He knew that the Jews were looking for such a Messiah, one who would feed and clothe them, crush the Roman power, and reduce their heavy taxes. His mission was to be the Messiah, who would continue to please His father. Jesus detected the fact that below the surface of the Satanic suggestion was a distrust of His Father's purpose and power. He had identified Himself with men as the Son of God to live as the Son of man a life of dependence upon the Father.

The appeal to man's appetite would be popular, but Christ determined not to establish His kingdom thru His power to turn stones into bread, yet He is doing it. The stones, disintegrating in the fields, make positive our wheat harvest, whence comes our flour, He turned aside the tempter's suggestion by a quotation from God's word, "Man shall not live by bread alone." He revealed His faith in the Scriptures and demonstrated His loyalty to Jehovah by declining to prove His Messiahship by material means. He took an unpopular position but the only one that promised a permanent power for the kingdom He wished to establish. He made the spiritual first and then the material in His program. He sought to establish the rule of God in the hearts of men and thru them in the affairs of the world. Man may fail whenever in their political or philanthropic work they have placed the material wants of men before their spiritual needs. By obedience to God's word and exercising faith Christ conquered Satan.

The second temptation was an open proposition to give the kingdoms of the world to Christ for a word. The Devil sought to tempt Jesus to grasp the dominion of the world by false means. He offered Jesus immediate control and freedom from the struggles of the centuries, if Christ would worship Satan. It was an effort to buy the Master, offering Him the kingdom of the world without the cross. Satan had been defeated and tried to win out thru compromise. The passions, prejudices and power of men would be overcome if Jesus would compromise with evil and use the same as assistance in carrying out His program. No follower of the Lord Jesus can afford to compromise with the Evil One. Our Saviour felt the force of that temptation, which appealed to His ambition to establish the kingdom of God among men. He refused to take the short course to the throne when He turned upon the tempter, tore off His mask, and defeated him by his efforts to secure a compromise refusing to worship Satan, because God's word commanded, "Thou shalt worship the Lord, thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."

The attitude of Jesus to the scriptures led Satan to open his final effort to master Christ with a quotation from the psalms. He was established in the next verse, which refers to the victory of the righteous man over the devil. One can never trust Satan or his tools when they attempt to quote God's word. They usually misquote it when they try to make out that apparently they are supported by the Bible. Satan tried to persuade Jesus that He could prove His faith in God by a spectacular display that would overcome His gonship and reveal God's keeping power. He urged the Master to seek the support of the Jewish nation by the exercise of miracles. This temptation was the opposite of the first and again Jesus turned to the scripture for a weapon of defense with which He mastered Satan. The devil's false use of the Scriptures was answered by the use of miracles as a means of winning men. The needless test of God's fidelity to His promise is expressly forbidden. Christ recognized that the only way to win men for the cause was by methods that deified man's nature. Anything other of the moral and natural law would have been a defeat. He did not compromise His principles by an act of compact with Satan.

When the Devil had fully tried every kind of temptation, he was defeated. When the battle had been won by the Lord Jesus angels drew near to minister to His ministrant, then ready for His work, won the battle. He had fought and won the battle. He had responded to the heavenly call to be the Messiah. He came forth from the Jordan conscious of His power but before He entered upon His public ministry Jesus had to settle how He would use His power in establishing the kingdom of God among men. The devil sought to mislead Christ so that He would misuse His power for selfish purposes.

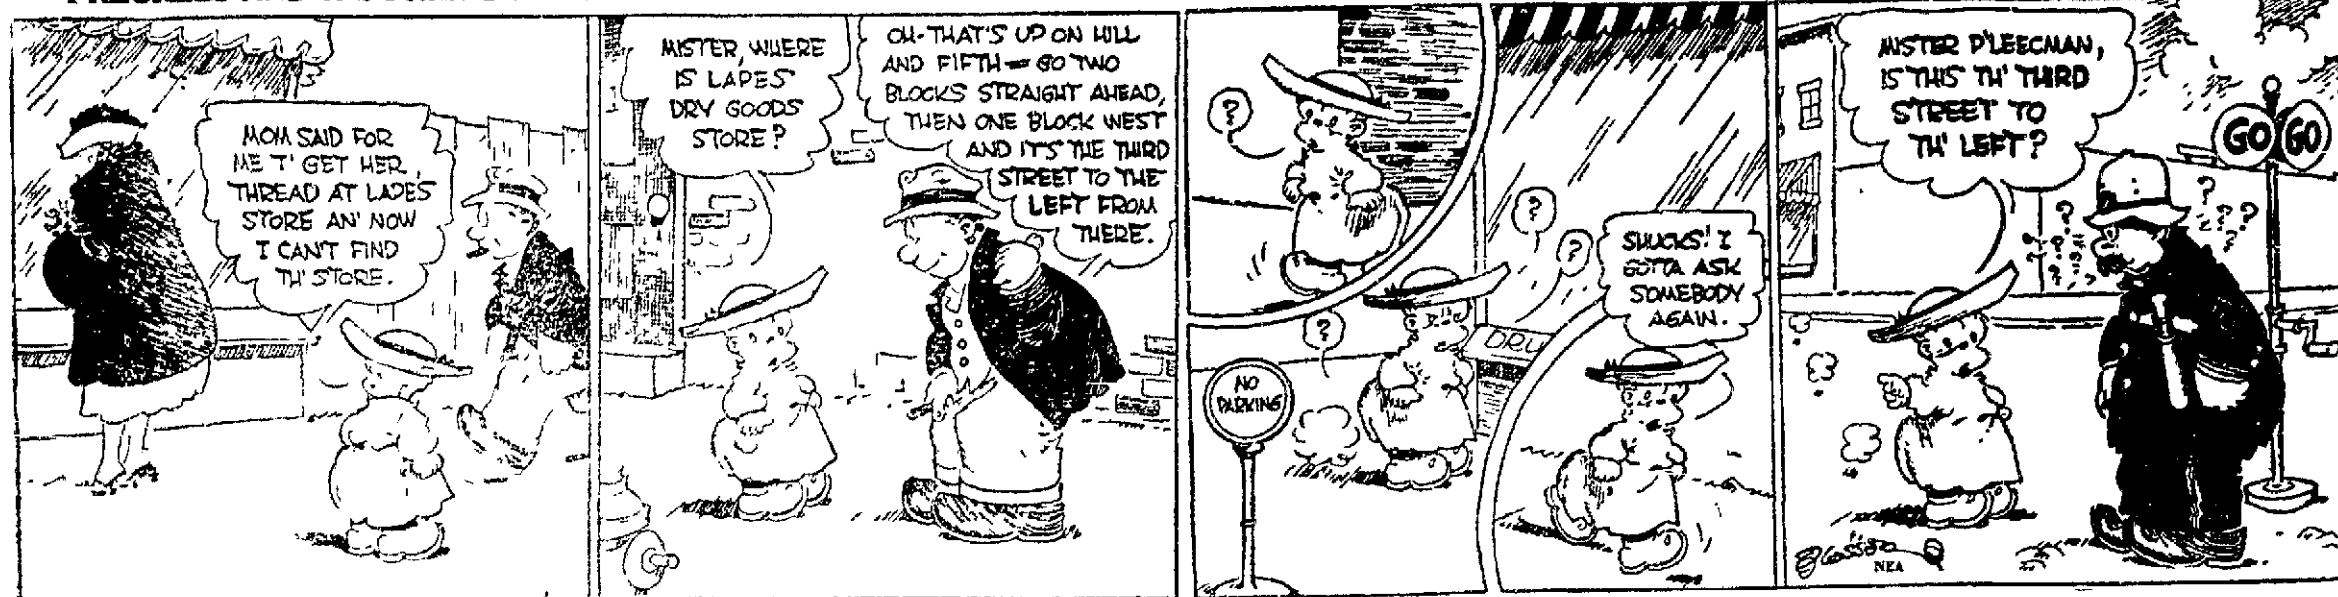

Among this question centered the temptation of Jesus. It is the center of our temptations. We have to determine how we shall use the power God has entrusted to us whether for self or His glory.

THE MASTER'S VICTORIES
Satan's strategy and subtlety is seen in the fact that He tried with all of His power to master Jesus, when He was weakened by His forty days fast and was hungry, by his threefold attack. The first suggestion that the Devil presented to the physically exhausted Christ was that the Lord should use His power
